

New York Times and USA Today
Bestselling Author

FARRAH ROCHON

AS SEEN IN: Entertainment Opal Daily npr shondaland

About Me

A native of south Louisiana, New York Times and USA Today Bestselling author Farrah Rochon officially began her writing career while waiting in between classes in the student lounge at Xavier University of Louisiana. Some of Farrah's 40+ books, including her popular Boyfriend Project series, have been seen in O, The Oprah Magazine, Entertainment Weekly, Cosmopolitan Magazine, NPR, BuzzFeed, Shondaland, The Washington Post, and more.

When she is not writing in her favorite coffee shop, Farrah spends most of her time reading, traveling the world, hanging around on Twitter, visiting Disney World, and trying to attend as many Broadway shows as her budget will allow. An admitted sports fanatic, Farrah feeds her addiction to football by watching New Orleans Saints games on Sunday afternoons.

Social Media Reach

@farrahrochon
18.1K Followers

@farrahrochon
8.9K Followers

@farrahrochonauthor
4K Followers

Signature Topics

- Plotting
- Characterization
- Hybrid Publishing
(Traditional and Self-Publishing)
- Diversity In Publishing
- Crossing Genres
- The Writer's Life
- All Things Disney

Get In Touch

farrah@farrahrochon.com

farrahrochon.com

Speaker Rates

Rates start at $450*
(plus travel)

Literary Representation

Enquiries can be made through my agent,
Evan Marshall of The Evan Marshall Agency.

*Negotiable for schools
and libraries